News of the Boys in Service

The Chicago Army Air Force Examining board presents an Air Combat Crew show sponsored by Marshall Field & Co. in America's original Victory Center, to inaugurate a new drive for gunners, bombardiers, navigators, and pilots. The show will be open a month.

Highlighting the exhibit is the giant landing gear of the B-29 Superfortress and an army air force aerial gunnery trainer. The gear, which is being exhibited in Chicago for the first time, weighs over 7500 pounds. The gunnery trainer, an electric eye device, simulates rapid gun fire. It has a control panel which not only casts a dodging spot target, but also records the number of shots and hits scored.

While the gunnery trainer, which is manufactured in Chicago by the Lion Manufacturing Corporation, will have the youngsters lined up out into Wabash, it is expected the B-29 landing gear will prove the main interest to the older and mechanically minded folks. The landing gear, manufactured by A. O. Smith Corporation in Milwaukee, gives concrete evidence of the Superfortress' gargantuan proportions.

The Air Combat show will also have an unusual display of air equipment which was assembled with the help of the Army Air Force Material command. Publicly displayed for the first time will be the Chicago Board's new procurement poster designed by Stan Ekman.

The army air forces need more gunners, bombardiers, navigators, and pilots. Seventeen year olds can enroll in the Air Corps Enlisted reserve now for air combat crew training after 18. College training at government expense is available to Air Corps Enlisted Reservists who can meet age and educational requirements. Full information may be secured from the Chicago Army Air Force Examining board, 166 W. Van Buren st.

LT. GEN. G. C. KENNEDY

PRAISES LT. RUNYARD

Laudatory comments from his commanding officer, Lt. Gen. George C. Kennedy, have been received by Mrs. Nell Runyard of Rock Lake in connection with the award of the Air Medal to her son, Lt. Gerald D. Runyard.

Gen. Kennedy, commanding officer of the Allied Air forces in the Southwest Pacific, says:

"Recently your son, Lt. Gerald D. Runyard, was decorated with the Air Medal. It was an award made in recognition of courageous service to his combat organization, his fellow American airmen, his country, his home, and to you. He was cited for meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flights in the Southwest Pacific areas from Feb. 10 to April 3, 1944.

"Your son took part in sustained operational flights during which hostile contact was probable and expected. These flights included bombing missions against enemy installations, shipping, and supply bases, and aided considerably in the recent successes in this theater.

"Almost every hour of every day your son and the sons of other American mothers are doing just such things as these here in the Southwest Pacific.

"Theirs is a very real and very tangible contribution to victory and to peace.

"I would like to tell you how genuinely proud I am to have men such as your son in my command, and how gratified I am to know that young Americans with such courage and resourcefulness are fighting our country's battles against the aggressor nations.

"You, Mrs. Runyard, have every

Ill. Conservation Department Seeks Lions' Cooperation

Support for Post-War Program is Needed, Says L. E. Osborne

In line with the "Chain of Lakes Day" at which the Antioch Lions club will be host to legislators and state conservation and waterways committee members Thursday, Sept. 14, comes the announcement that Livingston E. Osborne, director of the Illinois state department of conservation, is asking the various Lions organizations of the state to support the department's post-war plan of constructing lakes and recreational areas.

A number of reservations have already been received here for Chain of Lakes day, Harry J. Krueger, who is on the program committee announces.

"As well as making better hunting and fishing, it will also help in preventing soil erosion, in flood control, in raising our water table, so that the man in the city may have water to drink, that the farmer may save his timber lands, have water for his stock and increase his crops," Osborne amplifies.

"Badly eroded gulches and submarginal lands have little value as crop-producing areas. There are millions of such acres in Illinois, which were parts of great bodies of water when Illinois was once the greatest inland hunting and fishing place in the world.

"In those days when we had great forests and many lakes, many people came from everywhere to the paradise of Illinois for their hunting, fishing and recreation. Today, our citizens spend more than 50 million dollars annually in other states, seeking places to hunt and fish for recreation."

City Briefs

A gasoline stove that caught fire brought a call to the John Cline place, Lake Catherine, for the Antioch fire department on Labor Day. The fire had been extinguished without serious damage before the firemen arrived. Another call was received last Friday afternoon at 2:50 p. m. when the carburetor of a Jefferson ice company truck caught fire, at Hillside avenue and Lake street. Damages amounted to $50.

A blood clot is believed to have caused the sudden death of Martin Robert Blank, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Blank of Thiensville, Wis., Tuesday morning at about 1 o'clock at Miss West's school, North avenue, where he had been a student for the past two weeks. Dr. I. L. Breakstone and the Antioch Rescue squad were called to the school Monday evening at 9:45 o'clock when the lad was observed to be ill. They succeeded in reviving him, but he became ill again about an hour afterward, and efforts to revive him the second time were unsuccessful. The body was taken to Thiensville for burial.

The Rescue squad was called to Channel Lake Monday morning to aid in removing Mrs. Alice Ellerdine, who had suffered a broken leg, to a hospital. She was attended by Dr. R. D. Williams.

An ordinance calling for an increase in the village's road and bridge fund was adopted at a meeting of the Village council Tuesday evening. At present the sum of 12 cents per 100, divided between the village and township, is being collected. The new ordinance, which is to be filed with the Lake county clerk tomorrow, asks for an additional eight and one-third cents per hundred.

Stratton Notes Increase in State Revenue Fund

William G. Stratton, State Treasurer of Illinois, announced today that the General Revenue fund of the state increased $3,815,868.08 over July, 1944, to a total of $107,718,790.55 at the close of business Aug. 31, 1944. (Of this figure 75 million dollars is segregated into the General Revenue Investment fund.)

Stratton also reported that regular funds of the Treasury showed an increase of $1,321,058.99 with a balance of $189,004,789.45; and Trust funds increased $15,206,962.30 to a $459,290,315.08 balance, giving a total of $448,295,104.53 in the State Treasury—an increase of $16,528,018.29 over last month.

Volume of Clerk's Records Tells Early History of Village

Petition for Incorporation Opens Volume Dated Feb., 1892

An interesting volume in Antioch's early history, covering a span of 18 years, was uncovered when Miss Belle Hughes found a volume of Village Clerk's minutes among the papers and personal effects of her father, the late L. M. Hughes, for many years active in Antioch municipal affairs.

The volume opens with an account of the presentation of a petition to incorporate the Village of Antioch, Feb. 25, 1892.

Recorded in handwriting the petition opens as follows:

"And now comes Thomas Wilton and thirty others and file their petition in the office of this Lake County in the State of Illinois. Wherein they ask the county judge of said Lake County that the question of the organization of the 'Village of Antioch' be submitted to the legal voters of the said proposed village."

The volume, now in the possession of the present village clerk, Roy L. Murrie, tells of the first village election, and records the minutes of village council meetings on down through the years, closing with that of Jan. 3, 1902.

Former village clerks whose writing appears on the various pages include William Emmons, A. F. Burke, W. S. Rinear, C. M. Conner, Frank Pitman, Jr., J. C. James, Jr., as well as that of many clerks "pro tem."

Bar Mailing of Food Under 1st Class Rate

Foodstuffs, including candy, which have hitherto been permitted to go through the mail to the men overseas at first class rates, in packages up to eight ounces in weight, are now being barred by the post office department, according to regulations received here by Postmaster Roy I. Kufalk.

This does not apply to gum, which is classed as a "recreation" rather than a food, the Antioch postmaster elucidates.

However, larger packages of food, when requested, may still be sent by parcel post, it is announced.

Other small articles, exclusive of foodstuffs, may still be sent at first class rates, and valuables such as watches and wristbands may, when sent in answer to a request, be insured.

Post Office to Accept Mail Messenger Bids

Sealed proposals for carrying the United States mails, including parcel post, between the Antioch post office and the Soo line railway station will be received by the local postmaster, Roy I. Kufalk, for a period of 10 days, to fill the position of mail messenger which will be left vacant by the resignation of Ernest Clark.

Clark has carried the mail for the post six years.

The bids, which should be sealed before being brought or mailed to the postoffice, will be held until the expiration date, Sept. 17, when they will be forwarded to Washington to be opened.

Antioch Sets "Record" for Water Safety

No Drownings Here During Summer Season, Rescue Squad Announces

With the close of the summer season on Labor day, the Antioch Rescue squad both literally and figuratively sighed as one man, and then announced proudly that not one drowning has occurred in its territory this season—a record that has not been equalled for some years, if at all.

"We have had some close calls, and we have been called out for drownings in other townships, but we take great pride in the fact that we in Antioch township have been so fortunate," said Capt. Herman Holbek yesterday.

Beaches Posted

"We believe that some of the success in this matter may be credited to the program of safety instruction we have been carrying on for several years.

"All beaches and resorts have been posted with safety rules. The resorts have cooperated splendidly, and many have asked for additional copies of the posters to be displayed where they would be certain to attract the attention of swimmers and persons renting boats."

George C. Koeth Services are Held; Burial at Monaville

One of the largest funeral gatherings held in Antioch in recent years assembled to pay final respects to George C. Koeth, Fox Lake, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Verner Kilgren of Ingleside officiated. Interment was in Monaville cemetery.

He passed away at his home Friday after an illness of three years.

He was born in Chicago April 25, 1893, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Koeth, but had been a resident of the Fox Lake-Ingleside area for 42 years.

Koeth was for many years owner of a tavern there, and had a wide acquaintanceship throughout the lake region.

Accept Veterans' Claims To Unemployment Benefits

Claims for unemployment readjustment allowances, payable to unemployed veterans of World War II under the GI Bill of Rights are now being taken in Illinois, Robert L. Gordon, Acting Director of Labor, reported today.

"The Illinois Division of Placement and Unemployment Compensation is serving as the agent for the Veterans' Administration in handling veterans' claims for unemployment readjustment allowances in the State," Director Gordon said. "Taking of claims started Sept. 1, the first possible date.

"Any World War II veterans who is at present unemployed and who believes he may be eligible for these allowances should report with his original discharge certificate to the local unemployment compensation office serving his community. For the most part, these offices are at the same locations as the United States Employment Service offices."

Salvation Army Will Hold "Doughnut Day"

In response to a request from Raymond Knopf, captain of the Salvation Army in Lake county, the Village council and President George B. Bartlett have given the organization permission to conduct a "Doughnut Day" in the village Saturday, Sept. 9.

The funds acquired will be used for general maintenance of the Salvation Army's "Home Service" in Lake and McHenry counties, and for support of headquarters expenses in Waukegan, Capt. Knopf states.

The Lawyers Have a Phrase for It

Peoples is peculiar. In fact, their reactions to emotions and circumstances frequently might be said to demonstrate what has been called a "fine case of non sequitur."

To get going in a sort of round-about fashion, quite a few happenings we've heard and read about lately remind us about a story Dad was telling us one time about a cheese-maker who was having family and also financial troubles, and tried to commit suicide by jumping off a bridge. "I never could figure out," said Dad, "how he thought that was going to improve matters any."

Well, just scanning a few recent papers, we observed where a man worried over the fate of relatives in Germany hanged himself . . . which was about as logical as though someone with relatives in England while London was being bombed should commit suicide, or as though the parents of American soldiers on Bataan should do such a thing. Perhaps we are extraordinarily dense, but we really can't see where he improved the situation.

Reading a little further, we notice, however, that the mother of an American officer who was on Bataan became exceedingly bitter over the fact that three lads picked up for shooting at crows had ammunition that would have been exceedingly helpful in the Philippines at the time of the Japanese attacks.

While we figure she may have something there, we don't believe that these three boys, who must have been around 12 or 13 years of age at that time, really can be blamed for the army and navy supply problems of 1941 and 1942. The real point of the whole thing, as we see it, was that they shouldn't have been shooting off firearms in a location where they were apt to pick off some unsuspecting pedestrians as well as crows.

And then, further down in the same column, is another item telling of a man who wants his marriage annulled because his wife, to whom he had been married for a year, had failed to obtain a divorce from a former husband.

Maybe we're just in a cynical mood this week, but it would almost seem as though he should have thought of that before now—say, about 12 months ago.

And while on the subject of illogical people and illogical doings—perhaps our mentality is a little slow, but we never were very sure that Tojo, Hitler and Mussolini were so smart themselves when they put over a war on the world under the pretext of "benefiting their countries." They have harmed other nations—at tremendous cost to their own—and it looks as though, instead of being in a fairly favorable situation, such as they were before they started out trying to get "something for nothing," they are going to be a lot worse off when all this is over.

What was it we said in the beginning?

Be Careful

Under the withering late summer sun, the danger of fire increases. Forests and fields are tinder dry. Farm barns are crammed to the roof with inflammable livestock feed.

This year the danger of fire is greater than normal, because of the manpower shortage. Forest protection agencies have lost many of their trained "smoke chasers" and no longer can count on large numbers of men to combat conflagrations. Last year in the single state of California, fires in timbered areas, water sheds, and grain fields swept through 675,000 acres. Nine out of ten were man made and therefore preventable. Such fires do irreparable damage to the war effort. They destroy natural resources that only time can replace. Where standing timber has been wiped out, this means hundreds of years.

From now until the first soaking fall rains, efforts to prevent fire should be redoubled. Extreme care should be used in burning trash. Every cigarette butt should be completely extinguished. Extreme caution should govern the use of matches.

There are stiff penalties for failure to observe preventative measures during the fire season. But even these are futile unless the public wholeheartedly cooperates with fire prevention authorities. In most instances the thoughtless culprit who starts a fire through carelessness, is not apprehended. He may wreak destruction totaling many millions of dollars. He may also bring death to many persons.

These are things we should take time to think about during dry autumn days.

Truman Article

Is Attacked by Ralph E. Church

Congressman Assails "Innuendo" Against Pearl Harbor Commanders

"There are a great many facts to be learned about Pearl Harbor . . . and when they become known I believe the country will be shocked," Cong. Ralph Church of Illinois declared in a speech delivered on the floor of the House of Representatives in Washington recently.

Cong. Church's remarks were inspired by an article by Harry S. Truman, Democratic nominee for vice-president, urging the unification of all branches of the armed service under a central command.

Following is a transcript of Church's speech which was furnished to the Antioch News:

Mr. Speaker, yesterday afternoon I picked up a copy of "Collier's" magazine of August 26th and read the article entitled "Our Armed Forces Must Be Unified" by Harry S. Truman, United States Senator from Missouri and Democratic candidate for the high office of vice president of the United States. Mr. Speaker, I was astounded. I could not believe what I read. I could not believe, but there it was in black and white, that an aspirant for the second highest office in this great country would publicly condemn a man before he was given an opportunity to be heard.

The would-be vice-president of the United States bases his argument for the consolidation of the Army and Navy upon the Pearl Harbor catastrophe, contending that the Japanese surprise attack was successful because of a lack of coordination of forces under the command of General Short and Admiral Kimmel. The would-be vice-president goes so far as to imply that General Short and Admiral Kimmel were not on speaking terms. This is what he says, and I quote from the would-be vice-president's article: "In Hawaii, General Short and Admiral Kimmel could meet, if they happened to be on speaking terms, or exchange cables and radiograms." There is no basis whatsoever for that statement.

Mr. Speaker, let me read a paragraph from the letter which Admiral Kimmel addressed to the would-be vice-president, which appears in this morning's issues of the Washington Times-Herald. This is what the Admiral wrote: "Your innuendo that General Short and I were not on speaking terms is not true. Your statements alleging failure to co-operate and co-ordinate our efforts are equally false. General Short and I as well as our subordinates, coordinated the efforts of commands in close, friendly personal and official relationships."

For over two years General Short and Admiral Kimmel have been waiting Court-martial. Time and again Admiral Kimmel has appealed for a public trial in order that he may explain exactly what took place immediately before Pearl Harbor. All that he has asked for is to be heard, to be given an opportunity to defend himself publicly. Not only has the administration refused an open trial, but we now have the would-be vice-president publicly condemning the two men. The would-be vice-president does not even wait until the investigation now in process has been completed before passing his judgment.

The would-be vice-president bases his case on the so-called Roberts Report. As I stated in my remarks on the floor of the House on June 5th, "At very best the inquiry of the Roberts Commission was cursory," and, further, "the Roberts Commission was more interested in getting out some kind of a report fixing responsibility on someone, than it was in learning the real facts." My statement has now been confirmed by the following from Admiral Kimmel's letter of yesterday. He wrote the would-be vice-president:

"The real story of the Pearl Harbor attack and the events preceding it has never been publicly told. . . . The Roberts Report, upon which you rely, does not contain the basic truths of the Pearl Harbor catastrophe."

Mr. Speaker, the Roberts Report is nothing more than a "political document." It was designed to allay the public clamor for information as to the party or parties responsible for our armed forces being taken by surprise. It was designed not to present the truth but to prevent the people from knowing the truth. I am personally convinced, and I believe that a true investigation will substantiate me, that the people really responsible for the Pearl Harbor catastrophe were here in Washington on December 7th and not in the Pacific. The Administration knows that is true. How can one otherwise explain the unwillingness of the Administration to hold the court-martial of General Short and Admiral Kimmel? How can one otherwise explain the Administration's opposition to the resolution which we passed for the investigation that is now being made by high ranking officers of the Army and Navy?

The Roberts Report states that at about noon (6:30 A. M. Honolulu time), or one hour and a half before Pearl Harbor, a warning message was sent to General Short and Admiral Kimmel of an almost immediate break in relations with Japan. Assuming such a message was sent, I should like to know how long before it was sent the President, the State Department and the War Department knew that it was Japan's intention to attack Pearl Harbor. If the President knew three or four days before the attack that such an attack was being prepared, why weren't General Short and Admiral Kimmel apprised of that fact immediately? When the whole story of Pearl Harbor is made known, as some day it will, I am inclined to believe that the reason we were taken by surprise was negligence in Washington and not negligence on the part of the commanders in the Pacific. As a clock to this fact, the Roberts Report was devised and to prevent this from being known by the people the court-martial of General Short and Admiral Kimmel has been postponed for two and a half years.

There is another interesting development in connection with the Pearl Harbor catastrophe which is beyond understanding. You will recall that two privates operating a detector unit sent a message to headquarters that they were approaching and they were told by the lieutenant who received the message to forget it. That same lieutenant, one Kermit A. Tyler, is today a Lieutenant Colonel. Think of it. An officer who obvious-

"YEP, good light sure makes a difference to us kids. Makes studying easier and pleasanter. Helps prevent headaches from eyestrain."

"That's why mom sent me to Public Service store for lamp bulbs. She said my eyes need protection."

"Besides, she doesn't want poor light to serve as an excuse for poor marks."

And another thing—you can get up to 50% more light by making sure bulbs, bowls, and shades are clean. For good information on the subject, get your copy of the wartime folder "Care and Use of Lamps and Lighting" at your Public Service store.

Home Sewers Turning Attention To Smart Apparel for Autumn

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

TO BE able to sew and to design pretty clothes for yourself is a real asset in one's life. Enthusiasm for "making your own" is spreading among women everywhere these days.

It was fun and really a happy pastime to sew with dainty wash materials during midsummer. Even the amateur covered herself with glory in fashioning the easy-to-sew summery cottons and rayon weaves that seemed to be lovelier this year than ever before. Comes now, however, the time when homesewers are thinking in terms of good-looking apparel that will prove the perfect choice to bridge the gap between summer and fall and then to carry on through the late autumn days worn under a chic topcoat.

Today the first consideration in wardrobe planning from a practical point of view is how much is needed to look well dressed, and how about the "stretching" possibilities of one's wardrobe. It is the many-purpose wear of one's clothes that dominates in the general scheme of costume designs for the duration period. If you want to look fashion-right and yet keep within bounds of a strict wartime budget, you'll be wise in making a dual-personality bolero suit your immediate choice. For crisp, summer-into-fall weather, a youthful, simple to make bolero-and-skirt costume is the ideal choice. With different blouses and interchangeable accessories it stands ready for any event, every day of the week.

It doesn't matter much whether you ever tackled a suit-making project before because you can get expert help in latest dressmaker tricks and sewing short-cuts at your local sewing center and many important stores throughout the country now conduct sewing classes in connection with their fabric department. Among other things you will be taught to make easy adjustments to your figure with the aid of a dress form of plastic materials molded individually to your own contours.

You'll get a lot of pleasurable wear out of a gay cardigan bolero version that contrasts skirt and jacket as shown to the right in the illustration. Fuchsia wool is used for this bolero, navy wool for the skirt.

Button-Up Coat

The blending of many colors makes this coat a gay and charming one. It's a perfect choice for mid-season and fall wear. Made of navy wool, this slim short box coat is lined in water blue. Large poker chip buttons, each a bright hue all its own, march down the front in single file from a slim round neck to the hemline. Buttons are having a big vogue and their popularity will continue right through the fall season. Even midday's hat takes on a trim made up of myriads of tiny multi-colored buttons.

The sleeves are bracelet length to team with the new longer length gloves. The hat and bag to match is another sewing achievement that can be yours for the trying in that patterns are so easily available for all types of stunning accessory sets.

You may prefer the bolero style that takes on a classic notched collar and revers with straight long sleeves as shown to the left. Make it in a pastel woolen, for color is going rampant throughout the new fall style program. Restrained fullness is achieved with cluster gathers at the front of the column-slim skirt.

The ingenious sewer is given something new to think about in way of decorative button and buttonhole technique that is enhancing so many of the newer costumes. You can achieve smart individuality for the garment you are making if you avail yourself of the button-making and fabric-covered button service and plastic button collections offered at the notion counters of local sewing centers. The pen-and-ink sketches to the left illustrate some of the new and fascinating button and buttonhole maneuvering that is going on at present. Note the cunning use of handmade embroidered leaves, which together with gay fabric-covered buttons, add a decorative touch to the jacket sketched at the top.

A most exciting touch of individuality that sewing center experts recommend is made-to-order monogrammed buttons. You can make each button a standout by centering it against a diamond shaped piece of fabric as shown in the center sketch. The fabric diamond shaped motifs are easy to apply on the jacket closing if you use the zig-zagger attachment on your machine. The tiny fabric squares with pinked edges done on the sewing machine pinker attachment are centered with clever buttons for the jacket pictured last in the panel sketches.

Gloves Harmonized To New Hat Colors

Gloves are being featured both at regular glove counters and in millinery departments and shops that pick up the mood and line and color of the new fall hats in a family-relation way that simplifies the ensemble idea for women who appreciate color and styling harmony. The spotlight is on gay fuchsia, royal blue, turquoise violet, gold, orange and chertreuse. Suede and jersey are handled in versatile and intricate ways in custom gloves as to coordinate with hats. Outstanding is the black suede glove that has a deep cuff of jewel-embroidered satin. An excellent example of coordination between glove and hat is shown in a glove that carries out feathered detail on only one deep cuff, following out the one-side treatment of the feathered hat in perfect teamwork.

Neckpieces Are Fashioned Of Satin and Beadwork

Instead of expensive costume jewelry stunning new ideas are being shown in accessory displays that are worked with fabric and beadwork. These "neckers" as they are called are really youthful versions of the dowager dog-collars. Made of gay satin or black if you choose, they are enhanced with elaborate beadwork done in festive colors. Beads that sport long dramatic silk tassels are made to match the neckpiece repeating. These charming accessory fancies are lovely for gala wear and do they work wonders for simple little frocks!

The Observer

Young lads to mow lawns have been at a premium around Antioch this summer. Sort of a boy-power shortage, as it were.

We run sort of an informal information bureau around this place, but generally manage to get some of our own work done in between times.

Questions we are called upon to answer include: "Where do you get the Chicago papers?" "What eating places are there in town?" "Do you sell yard goods here?" "If I bring my cleaning in tomorrow, how soon can I get it back?" "Where can I get someone to clean out an old-fashioned outdoor?" "Is there a Chamber of Commerce here?" "Where can I rent a cottage?" "Did anybody turn some car keys in here?" "I lost my glasses. Do you know anything about them?" "Where is a good place to eat?" "I lost my dog and was wondering if you people had

Planless Planners

HOW PLANNING WORKS

When a full day of rain recently inundated Washington, the personal effects of hundreds of federal workers were ruined by the flood waters. There was a good deal of surprise—and chagrin—among the bureaucrats, who learned that only those houses built by federal agencies had suffered from the flash flood and that houses planned by private contractors had not been flooded.

One federal worker pointed out that it looks as if the federal planners, who are always talking about "flood control" all over the nation, apparently can't even control the flash floods in Washington—through an adequate sewerage system.

BUREAUS HAVE NINE LIVES

Cats have nine lives—but so do New Deal bureaus.

In 1941 the Office of Civilian Defense under Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt set up a physical fitness division which was supposed to remold America's muscles. This was part of the same agency in which Mayris Choney was employed to teach us all how to dance.

Well, when Congress and the people thought this had gone far enough, the OCD was ordered to get rid of the boomeranging physical fitness division. Everybody figured the army and navy would do enough physical fitness to please even the most rabid New Dealer. But, lo and behold, just the other day the physical fitness division—under the same director, John B. Kelly, was discovered—still in Washington and still doing business, although somewhat on the quiet side. The division, investigation showed, had been transferred quietly over to Paul McNutt's Federal Security agency.

Same crowd. Same waste of money. Same foolish aims. Same New Deal tricks.

Consistency, That Art Jewel

While the Office of Defense Transportation is still urging everyone who does not have to travel to stay home and is even threatening to make the average man sign a card that every trip he takes is necessary, Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, announced that a committee including one person from each of the 48 states and one person from each territory and possession will call on President Roosevelt soon to notify him of his nomination for a fourth term.

As one writer pointed out, "We can hardly wait to see how surprised Mr. Roosevelt will be."

Another disillusioned bureaucrat declared that if all the people who were in favor of "letting Uncle Sam" do it could see the swamp in which planners put millions of dollars' worth of housing, they would change their tune. All in all, the day-long rain proved quite a few points against the New Deal.

Something to Crow About

seen him?" "Do you sell stamps here?" "How do I get to Blank's place on Blank lake?" "How soon does the bus leave for Chicago?" and so on. Yep, we sure have fun!—and confidentially, we don't really mind!

Milkweed floss from an Illinois field can save the life of a U.S. fighter in the South Pacific if boys and girls of the state cooperate in the state milkweed program, according to Miss Anna Searl, assistant State leader, home economics extension, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

The War Food administration needs 1,500,000 pounds of milkweed floss this year to be used as a substitute for Java kapok in life jackets, life belts and similar equipment for our armed forces. Floss needed to meet war requirements must come from our wild stands.

Dr. William I. DeWees, member of the Illinois State Normal university staff and state supervisor of the milkweed floss collection program, is active this month organizing groups of all ages to help in the collection which begins in September. Volunteers, who will be paid by the bag for their work, are urgently needed.

Every service man and woman sent overseas to carry on the war against the Axis must have life jackets as protective equipment. Exports of kapok formerly used in the jackets and belts have been cut off by the Japanese, making milkweed floss a vital war weapon.

The milkweed collection program is conducted in cooperation with War Hemp Industries, Inc., Petoskey, Mich.

Motorists are urged by the Chicago Motor club to have their gasoline tanks or gauges checked to be sure that the fuel gauge is registering the correct amount of gas in the tank.

Being out of gas at night or on week-ends may be a minor tragedy to stranded motorists with many gasoline stations now closing early. Drivers may just have to "sit it out" in that gasless car until the stations open up again.

"Couponless" motorists who run out of fuel at any time may be completely helpless, since gasoline station operators refuse to release emergency gas without coupons to cover, unless it can be clearly proved that danger to life or perishable property is involved.

A recent survey of the numerous "out of gas" calls to the club's emergency road service department reveal that inaccurate gasoline gauges have misled motorists on the amount of gasoline in the tank. As a result, many have been stranded without reserve rations to provide emergency gasoline.

According to reports received by the Chicago Motor club, all regions of the United States showed an increase in traffic fatalities up to the end of April this year. The North Central states' rise, 34 percent over the same period in 1943, was the highest for any region. In the Pacific area, the fatality increase was only 2 percent, the best record for any region of the country.

Water is Honey

When you cook with honey, remember a part of it is water. You can't substitute honey for sugar, measure for measure, without making some other change in the recipe. For one thing, you'll have to use less liquid than the original recipe calls for.

Blood Plasma

Plasma is the liquid part of the blood which, through processing, can be dried and carried in small packages—is instantly available for use on fields of action. Easily administered, it literally keeps death from the wounded.

Brush Overcoats

Overcoats and other articles that cannot be washed should be brushed thoroughly, paying particular attention to folds and seams where dust and lint accumulate. Place the articles on hangers and put them on the line to air for several hours before giving them moth-preventive treatment and storing them.

Banish Fruit Stains

If material on which you find a fruit stain is washable, stretch it over a large bowl and pour boiling water through the fruit or berry stain. If the stain is stubborn, on white or cotton, bleach with hydrogen peroxide or chlorine bleach.

With non-washable fabrics, use a 10 per cent solution of acetic acid to sponge colored materials. Materials where color will not be affected may be sponged with warm water, then hydrogen peroxide.

Can Serve Offener

Many gardeners find that by growing two or more greens, of varying flavor, they are able to serve them oftener, and thus improve the family vitamin intake. But when this is done, not so much of either should be sown, since quality is lost when these crops are not harvested regularly. In fact, it will pay to keep the plants cut back, even if the leaves have to be fed to the chickens.

Human Guinea Pigs

From the time of the ancient Greeks, scientists have needed human beings to test their theories—some have tried experiments on themselves, others have used volunteers, convicts and soldiers. In this war, conscientious objectors have welcomed the opportunity to serve medicine and science by becoming "guinea pigs."

That feature stuff of war—the march of men,

The awesome crawl of tanks, the flight of planes—

Have shown a tiresome lot of glamor Yanks,

With trousers and skirts razor-creased and shirts

That still retain the sheen of new-spun factory cloth;

With ties adjusted right, and shoes, the gleam

Of which will blind. Too much of a new-blown rank,

With chevrons bright and neatly sewn on sleeves

Of Sarge or Corp; and when I view those lads or lassies

So sartorially complete and nice, I thing

Fall Millinery Says 'More Hat' With Trend to Greater Elegance

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

NO-END excitement reigns in the millinery realm this season, due to a radical, almost revolutionary change in hat silhouettes, inspired by the new "more hat" movement that seems to be bringing about many new trends in contours for fall. Also, a new era of elegance is being launched of luxurious trimmings, brilliant dramatic color and the use of rich handsome media throughout.

As we all know, hats have been growing smaller and smaller, almost to the vanishing point this last season. Advance millinery showings for fall, however, declare definitely in favor of the "more hat" idea. The new hats coming in take on an air of importance which carries the good news that "real millinery" is returning with great pomp and glory.

This movement toward sizable hats that will stay on without coaxing does not mean that small hats are out of the "picture." Even the so-called small hat, however, refuses to stay really small this season, for there is a new bulkiness being added in thickened berets of the bumper type, and via massive drapes for turbans, or trimming arrangements, some of which just stop short of being top heavy.

It's the hat with the brim that impresses one with the fact that drastic changes are taking place in silhouettes this fall. There's really something to them both as to crown and brim that makes them take on an air of importance. Lavished as many are with rich plumage and color-bright feather fantasies, also precious embroidery, the new "more hat" versions look very new and imposing. As pictures speak louder than words, we are illustrating herewith a group of advance hats selected from styles shown by Chicago Fashion Industries for mid-season and early fall wear.

The hat centered in the group is typically in the new fall 1944 mood. It is made of gleaming black satin, for satin, you know, is the rage for everything this season from dresses and suits to hats and accessories.

So here's your cue, buy a satin hat for your fall fashion-first. This model tunes smartly to the "more hat" idea. Just the thing to wear with your suit and coat dresses is the subtly draped hat above to the left in the group. It comes in a rough textured wool with dangles of flirtatious rings of self-fabric, and a curtain of fringe about the brim. Centered above is a hat that broadcasts style news of a trend to dramatic side drapes. Interesting stitching is used together with a loop and a swirl of braid. The ladies will be tipping their hats this fall as you see above to the right in the group. This side-drape beret makes a flourish of a side piece that keeps it secure, finishing it off with braid and a handsome tassel. For a hat that will win compliments choose the feathered beauty shown below to the left. This little flatterer is designed for gala occasion.

Gorgeous flowers made all of feathers are blossoming out in full bloom on many of the loveliest fall hats. Feather flowers in lush fuchsia are charmingly arranged on the little black hat as shown below to the right. More satin! Centered below is a charming little hat that tells you that dashing satin trims will gleam from many a hat this fall, used for drapes and luscious large bows. New, too, are scroll motifs of satin, applied on smart felts.

Dickies and Vestees

Can Be Worn Formally

Halter dickies which can double for a bareback evening gown top are beautifully colorful, snapping up all the important dress and suit shades for fall. These are detailed with tiny pleatings, intricate embroidery and exquisite appliques and cutouts.

Many quite formal pieces are shown in way of dickies, vestees and vests, such as the pink crepe halter with starfish embroidery of black sequins, or a high-necked pink metallic ribbon brocade gilet worked in narrow stripes. There are also lovely embroidered net peplum dickies shown. With a collection of these charming fantasies one can rejuvenate one's costumes on hand until they look right up to the moment in style distinction and loveliness.

Jodhpurs for Youngsters

Something new has been added to the little folks' clothes program in way of jodhpurs that are now being sold for kindergarten wear and as practical utility garments for toddlers. These diminutive jodhpurs are made with swaggy pockets and correctly pegged and taped all-houettes. They are designed to replace overalls and leggings.

Gold-Color Fleece Coats

Style trends point to gold color for the popular fleece coats that are being shown for fall. Merchants regard it as the number one color and say a marked preference is being shown for this radiant autumn hue. Camel tan is still a favorite. Brown and green are the next in choice.

Pink Chiffon Blouse

This stunning dinner blouse is of blush pink chiffon with black, green and rose colored paillettes worked in star motifs. Emphasis on the luxury blouse is noted throughout the fall showings. Either they are handsewnly embroidered, glitter-glamoured or hand-painted, or they are made of handsome rich fabrics such as brocades, lame or satin-striped materials. Very smart are the new blouses of gleaming slipper satin.

Dramatic Combining Of Colors Is Latest

Costumes and Accessories Come in Radiant Hues.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Style creators are intensely, dramatically color conscious this season. This enthusiasm for color is not confined to accessories and trimming touches but dresses and blouses, and, in fact, the entire costume declares the supremacy of color in the fall and winter mode.

Designers are taking delight in throwing several contrast colors together such as they would never dream of doing in days of yore, and the answer is costumes so dramatically and beautifully colorful as to call forth utmost admiration. There's the sports dress, per example, displayed in a noted collection that drew extravagant praise because of its artful design. The skirt was of rayon flannel in a soft gray tone. The waist top was gray only at the back. For the front the right side was red contrasted with a left side carried out in a clear aqua shade.

To the home dressmaker the message of bi-color and tri-color dresses and blouses will prove most welcome in that one can buy short lengths of material and work them up smartly and successfully in versatile ways.

Accessories are that riotously colorful this season one can have color at your waist via a wide cape-skin belt in lush purple or chartreuse, or aqua. A belt of fuchsia shade dramatizes even the simplest dress.

You can carry color in your hand in way of a draped baby calf hand-bag done in chamolli, lilac, hyacinth and innumerable other eye-crashing hues. At your throat there's color when you wear a rainbow-colored bubble necklace. Be sure to add matching earrings which also radiate pinks and light blues, yellows and pale greens in iridescent loveliness. You'll be charmed by the new amber jewelry which tunes in so colorfully to fall tones and tints.

Fashion colors up your arms too with "long-longest" gloves for evening wear in the most delectable blues, aquas, pinks, and so on that fancy can picture, and don't forget fuchsia. It is carrying on for fall more triumphantly than ever.

The newest dickies and vestees to wear with your suit this fall go all out for bi-color and tri-color schemes this year. Accessories that tie up with millinery are all keyed to a high color pitch. Not only the fabrics for neckpieces, bags and so on contribute to the light-hearted color program but elaborate surface work is done in color-bright beads and embroidery.

Chic Black Cotton

The vogue for black cottons will continue through the fall. Young girls like them made up in simple frocks after the manner pictured. The skirt ties on and is adjustable. The vice versa blouse, as suggested by its name, can be worn back to front or front to back. The fact that modern black cottons can be rallied upon as being fast color accounts for their growing popularity. This year black washable weaves are considered very smart for sports wear.

Fads and Fancies

A clever item selling at the jewelry counter is destined to stage a tremendous vogue this season. It is the smart looking chataleine, which is the latest thing to wear in more ways than one, at your belt, or fastened from side to side under your collar or at the throatline of your cardigan jacket or pinned over your breast pocket. Two pins, one a simple little brooch, the other at the other end of the double-link chain that festoons between, have a very ornamental dangle motif from which a locket gadget is suspended. To give new style distinction to your suit, these attractive new chataleines are just the thing.

Young Man Stops Train On Dare of Girl Friend

PHILADELPHIA.—The girl friend said: "I dare you to stand on the tracks and stop the train."

So William Kane Jr., 19, struck a pose, arms folded, on the Pennsylvania tracks at 23rd street. A train approached at 40 miles an hour. It ground to a stop a few feet from Kane, who maintained his Napoleonic stance.

Police arrested Kane for trespassing. The girl disappeared. At a police station Kane refused to name his companion.

"I'm a gentleman," he said.

"Why did you do it?"

"I'm in love."

'Taxi Service' of Navy

Saves Fliers at Palau

PEARL HARBOR, T. H.—United States navy float planes rescued the crews of downed combat planes on almost a "taxi service" basis during the recent carrier task force strikes against the Palau islands. One of the speediest rescues was that of a three-man crew from a torpedo bomber by two cruiser-based float planes. The rescue craft, warned that the bomber was in trouble, landed on the water simultaneously with the Avenger and picked up the fliers almost before their feet got wet.

Desert Training

Camp Fades Into Lone Ghost Town

Large War Maneuver Area Scene of Grimiest Mock Warfare.

SAN BERNARDINO, CALIF.—

The California-Arizona desert training center, springboard for the North African invasion troops, has faded into the "ghost" town of Indio. Corps headquarters were removed to the command unit here, and a guard of Negro soldiers has taken over the lonely desert post.

Known as Camp Young and headquarters for the smaller reservations in the area, its existence began in April, 1942. One of the nation's largest war maneuver areas, the desert center was the scene of some of the grimmest mock warfare conceived.

From the southern California desert southeast into Arizona, tanks and tank destroyers, half tracks, artillery, and troop carriers rolled through the sandy washes and over the rubble hills in operations as much like actual desert warfare as man and climate could make them.

139 in Shade—No Shade.

Temperatures in midsummer were as high as 130 degrees in the shade, but the leafless palo verde casts no shade and the scrub lies close to the soil for sustenance. This was an area well calculated to try a man's mental and physical resources. Residents of Indio say as many as 85,000 men were in training at one time.

All the while "Indio," population 2,200, was quietly engaged in raising dates and grapefruit. But the army spiraled the population and jeeps clogged the two main streets.

Laundries went on a vague schedule, groceries sold out by midmorning, the telephone company erected a new building.

Air and artillery bombings shook the straw out of adobe ranch buildings. The Salton sea, paradise for ducks, became a bomber base. Indio went to war for two years.

Town Is Quiet Now.

Now it's all over. The town is quiet. Horse trailers and hay trucks move slowly through the streets. There is a big pile of overseas caps in the dry goods store. Original price was $2.85; marked down first to $1.50, and now to 49 cents, they lure no buyer.

Camp Young's physical property will move away as it came, in sections. Tent frames and floors are to be taken up, the prefabricated buildings that housed bakeries, laundries, bathrooms, recreation halls, and post exchanges are to be hauled away.

The ghosts of thousands of sweating, sand-grimed men paced along the roads where rocks have been piled in unit insignias and cactus transplanted into gardens. Tar paper flapped, disconsolately from board walls of the day rooms. The chapel door was agape, its only occupant a lizard.

The Negro sentry rolled his eyes heavenward: "Yea sir," he answered, "I'm the onliest man here."

Home of Judge Hearing

Burglary Case Robbed

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Judge Samuel Leibowitz, famed jurist, was hearing a burglary case in Brooklyn when he was called to the telephone.

"Come home at once," said his wife, Belle. "The house has been ransacked."

At the Leibowitz home police were told the loss amounted to "upward of $10,000," mostly in jewelry belonging to the judge's wife and his daughter Marjorie, 18.

Marjorie, who will marry Ensign Lee Ross, a navy air force instructor at Pensacola, Fla., June 18, and her mother were shopping when the robbery occurred. Judge Leibowitz said many of his daughter's wedding presents had been taken.

"One thing they didn't take," said the judge, "was the fountain pen I write sentences with. And there's still plenty more ink."

Drank Port, Used Pipe;

She Reaches Age of 102

CHICAGO, ILL.—After having drunk port wine daily for nearly 100 years—recommended by her husband, a Greek neurologist, as relaxing—Mrs. Catherine Copulos now likes milk as her favorite drink.

Mrs. Copulos, who also followed her husband's recommendation and has smoked a Turkish pipe for 50 years, observed her 102nd birthday recently.

One of Mrs. Copulos' four sons, Milton, said his mother was still cheerful and healthy, and was active until two years ago when she suffered a hip fracture. He recalled that when his mother was 77 she went to New York and climbed to the top of the Statue of Liberty.

Find New Drug Addicts,

Thyroid Gland Hormones

NEW YORK.—A new form of drug addiction, the secret taking of thyroid gland hormones, was reported to the medical society of the state of New York. The thyroid produces one of the body's most potent energy-making hormones. Addicts use it in the form of deacetylated thyroid. Some use it for extra energy, some for mental stimulation. There is, perhaps, also, it was said, some mental intoxication.

$86,000 worth of smoke

You don't do it with hay, brother!

It costs 86,000 good hard American dollars to lay a smoke screen on a 20-mile beachhead for a single hour.

Worth it?

What would you think if you knew your life depended on reaching that beach without being spotted by the enemy?

You'd be mighty glad that—in this war—everything is being done to give the American soldier the best possible chance to live and win... money no object.

You wouldn't have it otherwise, would you?

Then remember—you've got to do your part by buying and holding War Bonds. Your dollars are needed to help lay the smoke screen... provide the "softening up" bombardment... flatten the deadly pill-boxes.

That's what your War Bond money does right now.

And in the future it will do still more

...both for you and for your Country. War Bonds are your safest, and smartest, investment. In ten years, they'll bring you back four dollars for every three you put in. And that money will mean purchasing power...for you. It'll mean jobs and a healthier economy in America.

So buy more Bonds than you've been buying. Buy more than you think you can afford.

They help toward a quicker Victory...and a happier peacetime for you.

Self-Sealing Tanks
In a fuel cell of a self-sealing tank a strong rayon fabric surrounds a layer of rubber. When a bullet penetrates the cell, the rubber swells up on contact with escaping gasoline and plugs the leak. A cell may be punctured by damaging 50-caliber machine-gun bullets many times, yet no fuel escapes. The use of these cells prevents planes from going down in flames, and makes the planes of today far safer than the "flaming coffins" of World War I, which one incendiary bullet would ignite.

Wood Soles

A shoe manufacturer is now making wood-and-glue soled shoes for both street and dress wear. Soles are made of hard northern maple and glued with synthetic resin waterproof glue.

Different Insects

Insects are divided into two large classes—those that chew their food and sucking insects. Most of the and sucking insects, such as blister beetles, flea beetles, cabbage worms, the large tomato horn worm, and others, may be destroyed by spreading a spray of poison over the leaves and stems that are infested. Sucking insects such as plant lice and many young insects which are soft bodied can be controlled by spraying with a poison that suffocates them, closing up their pores to prevent breathing.

Quality Compost

For good quality compost, avoid using pine needles or very heavy weed stalks. Turn the pile two or three times in the year. It takes about a year to make the best compost.
